

Scott Rees

Director, Chicago
AArete

Scott Rees is a Director in AArete's healthcare practice with a focus on healthcare profitability improvement, data & digital services, advanced analytics and intelligent Automation. Scott has extensive expertise in implementation projects for large health systems and complex consulting projects. His specialties lie in advanced analytics and modelling, regulatory requirements, pricing services, strategic planning and health systems revenue cycle. Scott has experience with multiple predictive modeling techniques as well as operational research/management science analytics such as time series forecasting, queuing theory, simulations and probability distributions.

Representative Experience

- Primary roles include identifying innovation opportunities, developing go-to-market strategy, sales strategy, managing client relationships, and ensuring quality deliverables
- Lead teams of revenue cycle subject matter experts, database administrators and data scientists in developing Machine Learning solutions
- Performed multiple implementation engagements to redesign internal processes, create/review policies and procedures, and assist in implementing best practices for analytics, regulatory requirements and revenue cycle services

Expertise

- leading strategic implementation projects for large health systems and complex consulting projects related to revenue cycle, managed care, third party reimbursement and finance.
- Analytics/Modeling, Regulatory Requirements, Pricing Services, Strategic Planning

Education and Associations

- MHA -Masters in Health Administration, Indiana University – School of Public and Environmental Affairs
- MSBA- Masters Business Analytics, Notre Dame- Mendoza School of Business