

Dustin Carper

Vice President, Strategy

TMP Worldwide

Dustin works to help companies show, and not just tell, what it's like to work for them. Employment branding, candidate experience, storytelling and data are his passions. Based out of TMP's Chicago office, Dustin brings over 10 years of experience in the recruitment industry as an agency recruiter, corporate recruiter, employment brand lead, digital strategist and client strategist. His overall responsibility is leading large, global accounts from both a relationship and strategy standpoint. Working with internal account and creative teams, he guides the development and presentation of complex, innovative and targeted solutions.

Dustin is a graduate of the University of Iowa, where he received a BBA in Management.
