

Frederick J. Crawford

President and Chief Operating Officer
Aflac Incorporated

Frederick J. Crawford is president and chief operating officer with Aflac Incorporated. He moved to Columbus, Georgia, from Indianapolis in June 2015 to join Aflac where he is now responsible for several areas, including enterprise, digital, and efficiency growth initiatives and overseeing finance, risk, and investments for operations in Japan and the U.S. He brings nearly three decades of financial and leadership experience to Aflac.

Before joining Aflac, Crawford served as executive vice president and chief financial officer of CNO Financial Group. Prior to that, he spent more than a decade at the Lincoln Financial Group serving in roles of progressive responsibility, including executive vice president and chief financial officer as well as leading corporate development and investments. Before joining Lincoln Financial Group, he held leadership positions at Bank One Corporation.

Crawford received his B.A. from Indiana State University and an MBA from the University of Iowa.

Since moving to Columbus, Crawford serves on the board and the finance and investment committee for the Community Foundation of the Chattahoochee Valley. Crawford also serves on the board of the University of Iowa Center for Advancement and the Tippie College of Business Advisory Board.
