

JULIE SPORE is Transamerica's Chief Risk Officer and a member of the Transamerica Management Board. She has centered most of her career in risk management and actuarial positions, both in the U.S. and globally.

Julie brings nearly 30 years of professional experience in the insurance industry and has held multiple leadership roles.

Throughout her career, she has been focused on assessing risks to business strategy and driving risk management and control maturity across Transamerica. Over the last several years, Julie has been integral to the Company's strategic initiatives while leading through unprecedented times of volatility and uncertainty.

Julie serves in an industry advisor role as a member of the Federal Advisory Committee on Insurance (FACI), which assists the U.S. Department of Treasury's Federal Insurance Office (FIO).

Julie is also an active member in her community. In addition to serving on the Vaughan Institute of Risk Management Advisory Board, she is a member of the board for Matthew 25, a Cedar Rapids nonprofit dedicated to transforming neighborhoods by providing residents with access to safe, affordable housing and healthy food.

Julie received her Bachelor of Science degree in actuarial science from the University of Iowa and has earned the Chartered Enterprise Risk Analyst (CERA) and Associate of the Society of Actuaries (ASA) designations.
