

Curtis Reed, Jr.
Managing Director
Government Healthcare, Higher Education, and Not for Profit
JPMorgan

In January of 2025, Curtis Reed was named the head of Government and Healthcare, Higher Education and Not-for-Profit (HHN) Banking for the Commercial Bank, overseeing the Government and HHN Banking teams.

A 20-year veteran of the firm, Reed has held significant roles across Commercial Banking (CB), including as Arizona and Nevada Region Manager and, most recently, as Chicago Region Manager for Middle Market Banking since 2017.

The Government and HHN portfolios support vital institutions such as hospitals, governments, not-for-profits and schools that are essential to the health, stability and vibrancy of our communities. Reed also plays a central role in the Commercial Bank's community impact banking efforts, including leading the CB's work on the firm's heartland expansion strategy, further building out the CB's volunteerism initiatives and partnering with stakeholders to drive outcomes through our work with vital institutions and financial intermediaries.

Reed currently serves on the board of the Civic Consulting Alliance, the Morton Arboretum, and the Advisory Board of the University of Iowa's Tippie College of Business. He is a member of the Chicago Community Trust's Bank Trustees Committee, the board for Local Initiatives Support Corp (LISC), the Commercial Club of Chicago, the Chicago Economic Club, and he is a Leadership Greater Chicago 2022 Daniel Burnham Fellow. Reed is also Co-Captain of the Economic Development pillar under the Civic Committee's Public Safety Task Force initiative and is a member of the Young President's Organization.

A native of Naperville, IL, Reed earned his Bachelor of Arts Degree in Finance at the University of Iowa in June 1995.
