

Lisa Carmack

Human Resources Business Partner
Syngenta

Lisa Carmack is a Human Resources Business Partner with over 13 years of experience in various industries with private and public employers. After graduating with a Bachelor of Business Administration, Human Resources and International Business from Henry B. Tippie College of Business, Lisa's career grew in newspaper advertising operations and business development with Gannett Newspapers. After 7 years she decided to change careers and returned to the University of Iowa to earn her Masters of Business Administration from Henry B. Tippie College of Business specializing in human resources and change management. From interning with Eaton Electrical and joining Kohler Co. in their Human Resources Development Program, Lisa has taken on new challenges and development working for Fortune 100 companies, the University of Iowa Hospitals & Clinics, and now Syngenta. Lisa's career includes employee and labor relations, managing and supporting negotiations of multiple collective bargaining agreements, leading global teams, human resources in manufacturing, corporate and health care environments, data and analytics, project management and is experienced in lean practices and change management.

Lisa is currently the Global & North America Human Resources Business Partner for Seeds Production & Supply at Syngenta. In her free time she enjoys kayaking and hiking with her dog, spending time with her family and friends and traveling when she can.
