

John L. Miclot
President and CEO
LinguaFlex

John Miclot is president and CEO of LinguaFlex, which is focused on treatment for sleep disorder breathing. He brings nearly 30 years of health care industry experience and leadership to the advisory board.

Prior to leading LinguaFlex, he served as CEO of Tengion, Executive in Residence at Warburg Pincus, and in an executive role at Philips Home Healthcare Solutions following the acquisition of Respiroics Inc. by Royal Philips.

Miclot spent ten years in senior roles at Respiroics, ultimately serving as president and CEO from 2003 to 2008. While in that role, he led Respiroics to record annual revenues of more than $1 billion. He joined Respiroics in 1998 when it acquired Healthdyne Technologies Inc., a medical device company.

Miclot served in various positions at Healthdyne from 1995 to 1998, including senior vice president of sales and marketing. Earlier in his career, he held sales and marketing roles at Medex, Ohmeda, Baxter Edwards, and DeRoyal Industries.

He is a director of Wright Medical Group Inc. and the Pittsburgh Zoo & PPG Aquarium.

Miclot received a BBA in marketing from the University of Iowa in 1981.