

John L. Miclot
President and CEO
LinguaFlex

John Miclot is president and CEO of LinguaFlex, which is focused on treatment for sleep disorder breathing. He brings nearly 25 years of health care industry experience and leadership to the advisory board.

Prior to leading LinguaFlex, he served as chief executive officer of Tengion, Executive in Residence at Warburg Pincus, and in an executive role at Philips Home Healthcare Solutions following the acquisition of Respironics Inc. by Royal Philips.

John spent 10 years in senior roles at Respironics, ultimately serving as president and chief executive officer from 2003 to 2008. While in that role, he led Respironics to record annual revenues of more than $1 billion. He joined Respironics in 1998 when it acquired Healthdyne Technologies Inc., a medical device company.

John served in various positions at Healthdyne from 1995 to 1998, including senior vice president of sales and marketing. Earlier in his career, he held sales and marketing roles at Medex, Ohmeda, Baxter Edwards, and DeRoyal Industries.

He is a director of Wright Medical Group Inc. and Dentsply International Inc., and he serves as chairman of the Board of Directors of Breathe Technologies Inc. He is also a director of the Pittsburgh Zoo & PPG Aquarium and Burger King Cancer Caring Center.

He received a BBA in marketing from the University of Iowa in 1981.